TEACHES NEWPORT-ERS TO USE FOILS

Newport, R. I., Sept. 11.—The figures of Newport society women, which recently came under tacit criticism through the sculpture-portraits of the prince Troubetzkoy, have found an enthusiastic champion in a petite fencing teacher, Mrs. Baldwin Cass.

Mrs. Cass has 'put all Newport to the sword' this season, or, rather, to the foil. The society women who are not taking lessons from her could be counted on the fingers of one hand. Not only that, but most of the men whose waist lines are indeterminate, have fallen under the spell of her "reducing" theories and are taking instruction every day.

Mrs. Cass declares that the figures of fashionable American women approach the ideal more closely than those of the women of any other land.

attached to it, but alsa! it was gone in the fire.

A new testament now takes its place. For years Miss Gould herself wrote the inscription on the fly leaves, but the number of books grew so great that at least the scripture passage accompanying her name has now to be printed with a stamp.

The public does not appreciate how great is this christian work among army and navy of the United States. Under the conduct of the Army and Navy branch of the Y. M. C. A. in 1911 there have thus far been held, in the army alone, 890 religious meetings, with 41,866 men in attendance. There have been 968 sessions of bible classes, with 22,504 men as members. Up to July 1 there were enroled in the Enlisted Men's Bible and Prayer League 3,674 men, There are what are called church parties. Men in groups go together on Sunday evenings and hear well known preachers. There have been thus far this year 188 such parties, with 1,693 men composing them,

THE VAST METHODIST POWER TO BE SHOWN IN TORONTO MEETING BE SHOWN IN TORONTO MEETING

The Methodists of the world meet in cotorence in Toronto, October 4 to 17 next, with elected delegates representing England, Ireland, Australia, Canada and America, and visitors numbering thousands. The program, just completed, is based on the theory that Methodism must serve mankind in far larger measure than it has done, and the discussions are intended to see by what means it can do so. Sir Robert W. Perks, the foremost layman in English Methodism, president Haigh of the English Wesleyan Conference, the Rev. Dr. W. H. Fitchett, of Australia, and the Rt. Hon, Walter Runciman of the English cabinet are among the speakers from foreign Methodism.

Not in adherents merely, but in actual members Methodists of the world represented in this Toronto conference, number 12 to 14 millions of perons, and they contribute in the name of Methodism upwards of $75,000,000 a year. The cradle of this vast movement is City Road Chapel, London, where the Rev. John Wesley, once an Episcopal rector in Savatinat. Ga. where the Rev. John westey, once an Episcopal rector in Savannah, Ga., preached, but there is nearing completion in London another headquarters that will rival the world's greatest religious structures. It is on the site of the old Royal Aquarium, and in the company of Westminster Abbey and Westminster Palace.

In foreign misions Methodists lead the whole world in contributions, the Church of England possibly excepted, while in education and many similar lines they are in the forefront. Their growth on the continent of Europe, in Italy, Russia, Sweden, even Roumania and Austria, is marked and steady, and lately they have set out to regain that once Christian territory, northern Africa. Conferences like the Toronto one are held in each decade, the approaching one being the third.

CALL TO BAPTISTS TO PRAY FOR PROPOSED RUSSIAN COLLEGE.

As president of the Baptist World Alliance, the Rev. Dr. R. S. MacArthur at appeals to Baptists of the United States and Canada to make the week beginning September 10 a time of prayer in their churches and families "that God may open the heart of the Czar of Russia to permit the founding of a Baptist college in St. Petersburg, to grant larger liberty to Jews, and to manifest a spirit of justice and clemency to the Rev. William Fetler," the Baptist delegate to the late Baptist Alliance who must soon return to Moscow to stand trial for preaching the gospel in that city under Baptist auspices.

President MacArthur appeals also in behalf of the Rev. Norbert Capek of Moravia, and states that Baptist interests in that land are in the midst of a crisis. In behalf of both he asks Baptists to give money on Sunday, Sept. 17. In the case of nastor Fetler to complete a Baptist Prayer house in St. Petersburg, now partly built but stopped for lack of funds.

SENTENCE SERMONS IN

for others.-Rev. Bernard Gibbs, at First Methodist church.

The good deeds of Miss Helen Gould are come upon in many places. An elaphyre in a Chicago packing house was summoned home in the middle of a forenoon, there to find his house in ruin from fire, haply his wife and child safe. In the pocket of his best coat, gone with the other things, there was a new testament which bore on its fly leaf Miss Gould's name. The other day the man wrote, telling of his oss, and acking if he could secure another book.

While on board a United States battleship, serving Uncle Sam, the man received one of the 15 hundred new testaments, with the Psalms, handsomely bound in leather for pocket use, which Miss Gould gives annually to men in the service who show by attendance upon Bible classes that they are interested. Completing his term in the navy, the man went to Chicago and secured the packing house job. His wife found the new testament in his pocket and began to read it. Soon both husband and wife joined a Congregational church there. The new testament that was burned had memories attached to it, but alsa' it was gone in the fire.

CATHOLIC CONGRESS AND

JUBILEE IMPORTANT EVENTS, Catholics have two important events in hand for the immediate future. One is the Eucharistic congress at Cincinnati, September 28 to October 1, and the other the cardinal Gibbons jubilee, October 15 to 19, in connection with which latter is the laying of the corner stone of the new Gibbons Memorial hall at the Catholic university at Washington. To both will go many of the leading prelates and laymen of the church.

The Eucharistic congress is the American part of similar congresses held last year at Montreal and this year at Madrid, and prominent in promoting this national event, a new one with Catholics of the United States, are the Priests Eucharistic league, in which about 6000 are enroled, and the Catholic Communion league, the latter having nearly the same officers as the former, but admitting laymen into its membership. At the Cincinnati Congress Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul is ta preach the opening sermon, and Archbishop Blenk of New Orleans the closing one. Papers will be read and discussions had on "The Real Presence" and related doctrines. The procession

The Gibbons Jubilee marks the 50th anniversary of the Cardinal's organization to the priesthood and the 25th of his elevation to the Sacred college. The Memorial hall at Brookland, the Washington suburb where is located the University, is a dormitory for students, and is one of the many new buildings which the University needs for its growing work. Other memorials were proposed, but the cardinal refused all save the building, the cornerstone of which he is now to lay, and a silver service, the latter presented by the priests of his own archdiocese.

Canada, With a Charming Frankness, Is Making a Deliberate, Organized Effort to Skim Off the Cream from the Farming Population of the United States.

To is probably unknown to nine people out of ten that the Canadian determment is making a deliberate organized effort to skim off the cream from the farming population of the United States.

It is all done with a charming frankness, but with a steadiness of purpose and an effectiveness in the results fitted to render us thoughtful and serious. Canada's policy is like that of a man who is too honest to steal his neighbor's cattle, but who sets out such an array of tempting fodder close outside his neighbor's fence that his cattle become homesick while feeding in their own lot, and jump the fence in pursuit of more tempting provender across the barrier.

Through the kindness of J. B. Challies, Canadian commissioner of immigration I have been ever out to research.

Through the kindness of J. B. Chailies, Canadian commissioner of immigration, I been have out in possession of the annual report of immigration, date of 1910, which sets forth, on page 87, an account of the successful efforts that have been made to draw acros the border the more enterprising of our farmers born and bred in the states.

103,000 Cross Border to Settle in Canada in a Year,

According to the returns made to the department, 103,000 persons had, during the previous 12 months, entered Canada from the United States with the declared intention of becoming settlers. This was an increase of 10,000 over the year before and of 101,000 over the year 1897.

The tide of immigration is very largely set in motion by direct personal solicitation on the part of representatives of the Canadian government, having official headquarters in various sections of the states.

There are 18 such agencies extending all along the line from Boston to Spokane with an indefinite number of sub-agencies, all engaged in the work of discovering who those farmers are that are doing the best work as agriculturists and who therefore will add most to the working force of the dominion.

Literature is widely distributed setting forth the opportunities offered to emigrants.

Recruiting offices are established in good business centers, "care being taken to have good window space for the display of grains and farm scenes." Not satisfied with these more general methods of enticement, personal correspondence is resorted to, and in some instances has been followed up for a term of three years before the candidate has taken the hook far emough to make it possible to land him.

It cannot be claimed that there is

It cannot be claimed that there is anything illegitimate in the policy pursued by the Canadian government, although issuing to our disadvantage. It is taking off the cream at the same time that we, by our hospitable and capacious immigration laws, are watering the skimmed milk.

PEOPLE are not nearly as happy as they would be if they went about the matter in a different way.

We rush through the days at a speed that hinders our seeing the flowers that grow along the roadway.

We think that that is very ridiculous In an automobilist, but not nearly so ridiculous as it is to motor through our years at such a breakneck pace as to blur what ever of beauty may chance to border our life's highway.—
